

ABSTRACT

A tungsten-containing fuel cell catalyst having high 5 electrochemical activity and its method of making are described.
The tungsten-containing catalyst may be formed in situ in a fuel cell after the fuel cell is assembled. The catalyst is formed by a low temperature electrochemical activation of a tungsten-containing precursor which has been deposited on a carbon 10 support